

GROUNDING

WHAT IS GROUNDING?

Grounding is a technique that helps keep someone in the present, and can be considered a variation of mindfulness.

GROUNDING CAN HELP WITH:

1. Re-orienting yourself to the here-and-now
2. Managing overwhelming feelings or intense anxiety
3. Regaining mental focus from an often intensely emotional state (including flashbacks, intrusive thoughts and anxiety attacks)
4. Detaching from emotional pain or behavioural urges (ie anxiety, anger, sadness, self-harm)
5. Getting you out of your head and away from upsetting thoughts, memories and feelings

CALM

HELPFUL TIPS

1. Practice! Practice! Practice!
2. Try to notice which methods you like best
3. Start grounding early on in a negative mood cycle

IMPORTANT TO NOTE...

1. Grounding does not solve the problem that is contributing to your unpleasant emotion
2. Grounding provides a temporary way to gain control over your emotions and may prevent things getting worse
3. After using a grounding technique, it is important to revisit and address the problem that activated the intense emotions. Grounding should not be used as avoidance.